

SOLARWATT and BHC Distributors Strengthen Strategic Partnership to Support Ireland's Energy Transition

Premium Partner GOLD BHC Distributors and SOLARWATT reaffirm more than a decade of successful collaboration and a shared commitment to growing the Irish solar market.

Munich, Germany – Intersolar Europe 2026 - SOLARWATT UK & Ireland has reaffirmed its long-standing partnership with BHC Distributors Ltd, SOLARWATT's Premium Partner GOLD distributor in Ireland, reinforcing a successful collaboration that has supported installers across the island of Ireland for more than ten years.

The strengthened partnership builds on over a decade of shared success introducing premium solar technologies to the Irish market and supporting the growth of a professional installer network across both Northern Ireland and the Republic of Ireland. Together, SOLARWATT and BHC have helped make high-quality renewable energy solutions more accessible to homeowners, farms and businesses, backed by trusted local support and industry-leading product warranties.

BHC has played a particularly important role in the development of the Irish solar market, becoming the first distributor to introduce SOLARWATT's pioneering glass-glass solar panel technology to Ireland more than a decade ago. This early commitment to premium, long-lasting solutions helped establish a strong foundation for the growth of high-quality solar installations across the country

Today, the partnership extends beyond solar generation to support the growing demand for integrated energy systems that connect solar PV, battery storage, intelligent energy management and EV charging. Together, SOLARWATT and BHC are focused on helping installers offer complete energy solutions that deliver greater value, energy independence and long-term performance for customers. Stephen Kane, Head of Operations, BHC Distributors Ltd, said:

"Our partnership with SOLARWATT is built on a shared belief that quality, reliability and long-term relationships matter. For more than ten years, we have worked together to bring premium renewable energy technologies to installers across Ireland, and we believe the opportunity ahead is even greater. As demand for complete energy solutions continues to grow, we look forward to expanding our installer network, supporting new partners and helping more customers benefit from high-quality, future-ready energy systems."

Peter Bachmann, Chief Product Officer and Managing Director of SOLARWATT, added: "Ireland remains a strategically important market for SOLARWATT, and BHC Distributors has been instrumental in our success for more than a decade. Their technical expertise, customer focus and deep understanding of the Irish market make them an outstanding partner. Together, we are committed to growing our presence across both Northern Ireland and the Republic of Ireland, supporting more installers and making premium integrated energy solutions available to more customers."

The renewed focus on partnership reflects a shared ambition to continue growing the SOLARWATT installer network across Ireland, helping renewable energy professionals differentiate their businesses through premium technology, expert support and complete system solutions.

As Ireland's energy transition accelerates, SOLARWATT and BHC Distributors remain committed to supporting installers with reliable supply, technical expertise and innovative technologies that connect Power. Heat. Mobility. Together.
